Academic Classification - College Level

Purpose

To identify College Level student academic classifications.

Policy

The College Level academic classification is based upon the student's accumulated earned credit hours. These credit hours indicate the progression toward an associate degree or toward a baccalaureate degree. Only college-level credit hours are used to determine academic classification. Levels are as follows:

- 0-29 credit hours: First-Year Student
- 30-60 credit hours: Sophomore
- 61-90 credit hours: Junior
- 91-120 credit hours: Senior

Scope and Definitions

This applies to degree-seeking students.

Procedure

The Registrar confirms a student's academic classification (college level) during end-of-the-semester grade processing.

This is updated as part of end-of-term processing.
